AMERICANS IN MEXICO SELL OIL TO JAPS

Senator Phelan Sounds Note of Warning, and Urges U. S. Protection

NATION BUYS CLAIMS OF DISCOURAGED MEN

With Proper Safeguard, Says Senator, Deficit Can Be Made Up Easily

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 30.—Japan is buying up the oil interests of Americans in Mexico who want to leave their holdings because they feel they are insufficiently protected, Senator Phelan, California, declared in an interview today.

Phelan made this assertion in urging this government to take a strong hand to safeguard American rights south of the Rio Grande.

In view of the critical oil situation and establishment of a policy by Great Britain to absorb the oil of the world both in the United States and out, if possible, our government, as a means of natural protection, should take a positive stand in Mexico and see that American interests are protected in the most emphatic and conclusive way," Phelan declared.

Japan Buys Claims

"Japan is buying claims of discouraged Americans in Mexico who do not hope for any protection. As soon as this government viceroyalty takes an interest in the matter, Americans in Mexico will be given renewed encouragement and the United States will be able to make up deficits in its oil supply."

Phelan's statements follow his receipt of a report from Sam H. Manning, chief of the United States Bureau of Mines and on investigation of activity of foreign governments looking to control of world oil fields.

Manning's report, while it does not mention Mexico by name, declared that the United States should adopt a "continuous, zealous and effective policy of protecting the rights, property and lives of Americans operating in other countries."

"The Department of State has on more than one occasion made effective representations to other governments relative to property rights of citizens of the United States," he said.

Would Give Assurance

"This alone will do much to encourage and give assurance to American nationals to go abroad for production and to protect their rights on investments in foreign countries."

Those who do not favor American intervention in Mexico declare that American oil interests are attempting to force the government to go into Mexico to help them in their long fight against Carranza.

Senator Phelan also made public a letter, signed jointly by Mark L. Requa, former director of the oil division of the United States fuel administration, George Otis Smith, chief of the United States geological survey and mining, declaring the government should support a big American petroleum company organized for world-wide development, along the lines of the mammoth Royal Dutch Shell company, said to be partly owned by the British government.

Letter to Garfield

The letter, written confidentially last February to Dr. H. A. Garfield, then fuel administrator, stated:

"The United States now commands the premier position by reason of its domestic production. This position of our country can and should be safeguarded and rendered secure by the government giving moral support to every proper effort of American capital to make its circle of activity in oil

Fleet Equals Japan's Navy

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 30.—Uncle Sam will have a Pacific armada equal to the entire Japanese navy. This United States fleet can meet on equal terms any other naval force that can be assembled in Pacific waters. Admiral Rodman has 200 ships under his command. The Japanese navy numbers 207. But the U. S. Pacific fleet is superior in hitting power, equal in gun power and nearly equal in man power. And in addition—there's our Asiatic squadron in the Philippines.

CHICAGO'S CAR MEN WILL TAKE VOTE ON KEEPING UP STRIKE

CHICAGO, July 30.—Cooler heads among officials of the 15,000 striking street car and elevated railway employees today sought to take a referendum vote to determine whether the city's transportation system shall continue to be paralyzed.

L. B. Bland, international treasurer of the Car Men's Union, asserted he will take steps immediately toward completing the referendum vote. He says the action in calling the strike early yesterday without an hour's notice to the public, and after refusing a 67 cent wage, Bland said, was caused by three hundred radicals among the union men.

W. D. Mahon, international president, who arrived in the city this morning, recommended the men accept the wage scale offered. Further complications in the strike situation were assured today when employees of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric road voted to strike. More than 15,000 additional workers will be forced to walk or use automobiles and steam roads, it was estimated.

Appeal for 200 citizen soldiers in uniform to help handle traffic in the downtown section and other congested corners was issued today by the city public safety department. During early hours today traffic went as it would, and numerous accidents occurred, traffic policemen having been sent to the riot zones.

Every conveyance was used for carrying to the business districts the 25,000 workers, stenographers and clerks. Trucks, cabs, express wagons and other vehicles were pressed into service.

Traffic tied itself into scores of Gordian knots when crowds started home after the first day of the strike. A few scattered policemen and self-appointed officers attempted to guide the streets full of people. Steam railway stations were crowded to overflowing.

MAJ. GEN. MORRISON IS MAROONED IN ALASKA

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Major General John F. Morrison, commander of the western department of the army is marooned with his aide at St. Michael, Alaska, owing to a late snow storm and severely cold weather postponing steamer sailings, according to a cable received today.

General Morrison went to Alaska several weeks ago on a military inspection trip. He expected to return by August 1, to prepare to turn his command over to Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett, appointed to succeed Morrison as western commander.

$1500 HEROIN FOUND IN PACKAGE OF CANDY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 30.—Fifteen hundred dollars' worth of heroin concealed in the middle layer of a box of chocolates sent from San Francisco to J. G. James, scenario writer, resulted in the arrest of James today for alleged violation of the drug laws. The heroin was found when the candy was delivered to the wrong man by mistake.

FRANCE TO ASK FOR LEAGUE ARMY STAFF IF TREATY REFUSED

BY L. C. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 30.—Should the Senate fail to ratify the French defense treaty which is now before the Foreign Relations committee, militaryists in France will insist that the League of Nations set up a general staff to direct its military operations, and create an international armed force, according to opposition senators today.

These senators assert their belief was based on information received from Paris. Senators who made this declaration are hostile to the league and the French treaty. Even with the special treaty, they said their advice show there is a strong demand in France that the league be strengthened by giving it armed force to sustain its decrees.

The Foreign Relations committee will begin open hearings Thursday on the financial and economic phases of the peace treaty. Bernard M. Baruch, the first of four experts to be heard, will appear.

As an indication of the broad scope the treaty discussion is taking in committee, it was learned today that one senator has proposed seventy-two amendments or reservations.

The amendment that will be proposed for Irish independence has been drawn up, it was learned. It provides that Ireland, the Philippines and Korea shall hereafter be regarded as independent nations.

HINDU REVOLUTIONIST DENIES HELPING HUNS

PORTLAND, Ore., July 30.—Bhawan Singh, Hindu revolutionist, is en route to San Francisco today from McNeill's Island, having been released from the federal prison a few days ago.

Singh, while in Portland last night, emphatically denied that he acted as a German agent in fomenting the German-Hindu plot in India.

The Hindu was convicted at San Francisco early in 1918 on a charge of being one of the ringleaders in a German-Hindu plot in India.

Singh claims he was convicted, though not guilty, by "English influence and English money." He says England spent $2,500,000 to send him to prison. Singh admits being a Hindu revolutionist, but claims has part in the rebel movement was of an "educational nature."

TWO RANSACK ROOM OF DEPUTY SHERIFF

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Detectives today tried to explain why two men ransacked the room of Frank McCabe, deputy sheriff from Denver here to testify at the trial of Lewis Harris, alleged bank robber, last night.

The hotel clerk said the men leave McCabe's room. They had turned everything in the room upside down but nothing was missing. Police believe they were seeking valuable papers or evidence they believed McCabe had.

Secretary Daniels to Hold Ships Until President Is Due In North

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Southern Californians will have plenty of time and opportunity to see the Pacific fleet as it will likely remain in the vicinity of Los Angeles harbor for two or three weeks.

This was indicated when it was learned that President Wilson had decided not to be in San Francisco by August 15 to review the fleet owing to a change in his plans and Secretary of the Navy Daniels stated he would hold the fleet in Southern California waters until the president is due in San Francisco. President Wilson likely will leave for the coast about August 29 or 30.

The probability of the fleet remaining at Los Angeles harbor as late as August 25 was increased by a further statement from Secretary Daniels to the effect that after meeting the fleet at San Diego on August 7 he will go to Honolulu with the battleships New Mexico and New York and a small division of destroyers, to attend the opening of the dry dock at Pearl Harbor, which is scheduled for August 25. He stated that he hopes to get back to San Francisco in time to attend the fleet review.

John B. Elliott, collector of customs, yesterday issued a statement to the effect that thirty-four vessels are due to arrive here August 9.

"A great many people have been laboring under the misapprehension that about 190 boats are coming here," said Mr. Elliott, "and that is not a fact. The six battleships, three cruisers, two auxiliary ships and twenty-three destroyers which we are soon to see are the real foundation of the Pacific fleet. The remainder of the 190-odd boats are scattered here and there, some at Honolulu, some up the coast, some in the South Pacific, and a great many in dry dock on the Atlantic Coast. When they are finally got together at their destination there will be a little less than 200 of them for a permanent Pacific fleet, but just now thirty-four big ones are headed this way."

Mr. Elliott has made arrangements

WASHINGTON, July 30.—American reservations to the peace treaty will result in much delay and embarrassment before the provisions of the settlement and the League of Nations covenant become operative is the belief of President Wilson. That this is the president's attitude was made clear today by the statements of senators who conferred with him.

L. A. GIRL CHOKES AND THROWS THIEF OUT HOTEL WINDOW

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—An unknown burglar, after successfully robbing the room of John P. Masterson in a local hotel last night, while Masterson slept, entered the adjoining room occupied by Miss Elizabeth Gates, expecting to add to his loot.

It was there he made his mistake. Miss Gates was awakened when he dropped a bureau drawer. She jumped at the surprised intruder, choked him until, she told the police, he was gasping for breath, and when he tried to jump out of the window, she gave him a friendly lift and he landed on his head after an eight-foot fall.

A dent in the garden marked the spot where he hit.

He escaped. The police are looking for a woman hater with a bump on his head.

WILSON CONFERS WITH REPUBLICAN SENATORS

WASHINGTON, July 30.—President Wilson today called four Republican senators to the White House—Lenroot of Wisconsin; Dillingham, of Vermont; Harding, of Ohio, and Gernald, of Maine.

Tomorrow the president will see Senator New of Indiana, first Republican member of the foreign relations committee to confer with him.

It was expected Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, would call at the White House today to report on his trip through the west.

FIGHT AGAINST HIGH FOOD PRICES BEGINS

COLUMBUS, O., July 30.—Ohio's fight against high food prices was launched in earnest here today with the gathering of prosecutors from the 88 counties. Governor Cox and Attorney General Price directed the conference.

Evidence of price manipulation poured in on Price from all parts of the state. This evidence came in the form of hundreds of letters and telegrams from housewives who were invited to submit their knowledge of price fixing. Cox said he hoped to curb prices by prosecution of persons guilty of manipulation of foodstuffs, rigid enforcement of the cold storage laws and perhaps a new system of licensing food dealers.

OIL PRODUCERS GIVE SIDE OF CONTROVERSY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Oil producers are today giving their side of the oil workers' wage controversy before the president's oil field wage mediation commission here today. The commission is holding executive sessions. Their report on the hearings here and hearings with oil field workers at Los Angeles will be submitted to the department of labor. Oil workers ask a minimum wage of $5. Present wages range from $4 to $10 per day.

HARRIS CALLS BANK PRESIDENT LIAR AT TRIAL FOR ROBBERY

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—Superior Judge Taft at noon today instructed the sheriff to bring Lewis Harris, on trial for robbing the Artesia, Calif., bank, to court this afternoon equipped with gags which can be used in case he repeats the outbreaks which caused a disturbance in court this morning.

Harris injected excitement into his trial while President George Frampton of the bank was testifying as to the visits he had made to Harris in the county jail. Frampton claimed Harris had offered to make a financial settlement with him.

"What are you lying for?" Harris shouted at Frampton. Frampton stepped forward as Harris seemed to rush for him.

"Sit down," commanded the bailiff. "Sit down, hell!" shouted Harris, facing Frampton across a small table.

"Why in hell don't you tell the truth?" he cried.

While Judge Taft ordered Harris seated, Harris protested with violent language that Frampton was "lying."

"Why do you sit there and swear my life away?" Harris shouted.

The court threatened to continue the case "until Harris is ready to sit down."

"Continue it until doomsday," shouted Harris to the judge, but he reconsidered and seated himself.

"Some excitement," Harris remarked in a stage whisper to Frances Kennedy, his co-defendant, as proceedings were resumed.

DAMAGE TO AIRPLANE WILL DELAY FLIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Slight damage caused the airplane of Lieutenant Charles Rugh of Berkeley, in landing here, will delay the transcontinental flight of four De Havilland army planes for four days. The planes arrived yesterday from Fresno. From here they will fly to Reno and Salt Lake City, circling the northwest states and returning to San Francisco before going directly east.

The DeHavilland contingent is from Ellington Field, Tex., and plans to fly over the new Woodrow Wilson aerial highway.

PRESIDENT WILSON TO BE GUEST OF PHELAN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—For weeks, two San Francisco hotels have been worrying and retinting their respective presidential suites in hope of having the nation's executive as their guest.

Both received a horrible shock today when they learned that the president during his stay here will reside at the home of Senator James D. Phelan.

NEW GERMAN CABINET.
LONDON, July 30.—The German cabinet will be reconstructed in a few days with Count von Bernstorff succeeding Herman Mueller as foreign minister, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Berlin stated today.

27 DEAD IN 36 HOURS TOLL OF RIOTERS

Fourteen Hundred Soldiers Will Assist 4200 Now on Duty There

2 MORE NEGROES ARE KILLED DURING NIGHT

Sixteen Policemen Are Shot While on Duty In the City's Black Belt

CHICAGO, July 30.—William Moore, aged 15, a negro, was shot and killed today by a white man living in the negro district. It was the twenty-seventh death in the race riot which began here Sunday. After a twelve hour quiet there were sporadic outbreaks today in which several whites and blacks were injured. The twenty-sixth death which was recorded early today was that of Berger Odman, a white, who succumbed to injuries received Monday night.

Eighty-five negroes and 17 white men are under arrest. Many will face charges of murder.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Fourteen hundred additional militiamen were ordered to Chicago early today to be ready to assist the 4,200 troopers already under arms here in quelling race riots that have claimed at least 27 deaths in the last 36 hours.

Adjutant General Dickson, who issued the order to the ninth and tenth Illinois regiments, asserted he believed the occasion will not demand use of troops in fighting.

Two men were killed during the night. One of them, an unidentified negro boy, was attacked while riding a bicycle. He was stabbed, shot more than a dozen times and died after police rescued him from a burning stake. Kerosene had been poured on his clothes.

The other death was that of Ira Henry, 40, negro, who, police said, shot and wounded Patrolman Walter Sullivan.

Fight in Black Belt

All of the major clashes were confined to the black belt; outbreaks in other parts of the city were sporadic and of a minor nature.

Sixteen policemen were shot and some of them seriously wounded while performing their duty in the negro districts.

Police Chief Garrity and Mayor William H. Thompson believed today the crisis in the riots, which began Monday night after negro bathers had been stoned away from a beach usually occupied by whites, had passed.

Garrity declared he will not ask use of the troops placed at his disposal until absolutely necessary.

On downtown streets and throughout the "black belt" there was a calm early today. Occasional outbreaks still occurred, such as shots from behind corners and from hidden doorways. Most of the negroes kept within their houses, however, and none were seen on the streets in the loop district.

Using Zone System

The negro section was patrolled by police who had instituted the zone system. One captain and fifty policemen were stationed in each zone, consisting of about ten blocks.

Governor Lowden remained on the job. During the day he was to have conferences with Adjutant General Dickson, Chief Garrity and Mayor Thompson. He declared that if troops are needed he will put into action every available man.

"The soldiers will be sent into the zone, ready for action," said the governor. "Of course you can never tell how far it will go and where it will end."

TEST OF REALTY LICENSE ACT IS SOUGHT

Controller Chambers After Decision Before Fees Are Collected

Word comes from Sacramento that State Controller John S. Chambers has held up a warrant for stamps in favor of the new real estate commissioner. This is for the purpose of bringing a test case to determine the validity of the new real estate license act which went into effect July 22, 1919.

It will be remembered that two years ago a similar law was passed and put into operation under Freeman H. Bloodgood, now of this city, as state real estate commissioner. A violation of the act was prosecuted and resulted in the Supreme court declaring the law unconstitutional on the ground of discrimination, the reason being that insurance agents under the provisions of the act, even though engaged in the real estate business.

However, some 7000 realty men had already paid their license fee, amounting in round numbers to $43,000. When the old law was declared invalid, the realty men, under the supervision of the State Board of Control, presented their claims for a refund of the license fees thus paid, but the legislature refused to make an appropriation for the refund, notwithstanding the fact that some $25,000 of the license money is still in the state treasury. There is ample precedent for the return of this money to the real estate agents. In the case of the corporation license act having been found unconstitutional some years ago, the state returned to corporations some $230,000 in fees it had collected under the act. Just why the legislature refused to return real estate license fees is not known.

Real estate men may thank Controller John S. Chambers for thus bringing this test case before the fees under this new act are collected, and they may rest easy until the outcome of the test case is announced.

M'BRIDE OFFERS COUNTY ROAD SOLUTION

That the only satisfactory method of coping with the heavy traffic problem on Orange county's highways will be to strengthen those roads bearing the heaviest traffic, was the opinion expressed today by J. L. McBride, county surveyor.

"I believe that very little more can be accomplished in the way of legislation to limit loads and that about the only thing that remains to be done is for Orange county to study the situation, find out which highways are bearing the heaviest burdens and rebuild those roads, or at least resurface them, according to the traffic demands put upon them," said McBride.

"The money to take care of this work is available. With travel increasing on the county's roads at its present rate something ought to be done, and soon, or it will not be long before some of our best highways will be pounded to pieces. It is a case of a stitch in time."

"I think that all sections of highway where heavily loaded trucks are in operation should be surfaced with an inch and a half of asphalt. At some points it might be advisable to lay a five-inch concrete base."

"The work could be done in sections, without serious inconvenience to traffic, and with a tremendous saving."

"Another thing I think would be advisable would be to build wider highways. At the present time an average of close to 3000 automobiles, including trucks, per day, are passing over the main highway through the county, and the volume of traffic is increasing rapidly. We must look toward the future."

"In certain sections of the east they are trying the scheme of building separate roads for the use of trucks, but I don't believe that to be a feasible idea in this section."

"Over in Wintersburg and other sections where there is heavy beet hauling, the argument of the farmer is embodied in the question he asks when the subject of heavy loads comes up: 'What is the use of having highways if I can't haul my loads on them?'"

"I do not believe that much more can be accomplished in the way of legislation limiting the size of loads. We must build stronger roads, or resurface those we have with thicker surfaces."

"It is simply a business proposition. Given a good solid road on which he can haul a capacity load, rather than a highway so light in construction that he has to make two trips, the man who is paying the bills will save money."

MRS. MITCHELL HAS RECEIVED SAD NEWS
Mayor and Mrs. J. G. Mitchell, of 219 South Swaney street, received a telegram this morning conveying the sad news that Mrs. Mitchell's brother, Roy J. Payne, of Redstone, Mont., was killed by a horse and instantly killed. The young man was unmarried and was 37 years of age.

'LITTLE JOE' AND 'PHOEBE' KEEP BOYS AWAKE

Santa Ana Guardsmen Having Time at Oakland Elimination Shoot

Santa Ana members of the local National Guard company who went to Oakland to participate in the elimination shoot for the selection of state men to go to the national shoot of guardsmen at New York, are on the grounds "blazing away." No account has been received here of how the local men are "coming on" in the contest.

Corporal V. Penley, writing Monday to a member of the Register staff, gives a little side light to incidents that have happened since the departure of the boys.

"We are on the field ready for action," he writes. "All the boys are eager to get the score read so they can start to New York."

"Corporal Moon has been promoted. He is now K. P."

"Between the cold wind from the bay and loud noises such as 'Little Joe' and 'Phoebe' there was not much sleep last night."

"Sergeant Freeman came into camp with his chevrons upside down. A nice looking guy, saved them on for him on the train. Now he's looking for an other one to sew 'em on straight."

"Corporal Patton has the branch for the Santa Ana Steam Laundry here. "Some of the boys say they think the surveyors made a mistake when they measured the 600-yard range, as it looks more like five miles."

The shoot at Oakland ends today.

MUSIC STUDENTS AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

The Valentine Conservatory at Huntington Beach is conducting a summer school of music and art with Saturday evening recitals at the conservatory.

Among the pupils in the higher grades are Miss Helen Fay Weinsbank, Miss Ruth Evelyn Chapman, Misses Beatrice and Grace Robertson, Miss Monica Schecher and Miss May Magruder. These young ladies are also taking a normal course and are assisting with the younger students.

Special mention should be made of the remarkable work of John Eber Flaws, a young lad of only 9 years, who recently gave a recital. He not only stood highest in honorable promotions and class standing, for the entire past year, but interpreted from the masters, classical memorized selections. Eber has a bright future ahead of him musically, it is declared.

The Blanchard Hall Studio, Los Angeles, is kept open as some suburban studios. Mrs. Adetha Peterson, principal, assisted.

Week-end outings are given the students at the conservatory and all enjoy the privilege of getting away from the heat in the interior towns.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital, says: "Many men who smoke chew and use tobacco and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison which, when absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with stomach trouble, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read aloud one full page from a book. If in the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and indistinct, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stairs, at a regular pace, to have the fleet anchored just outside the breakwater at Los Angeles harbor the afternoon of its arrival. The superdreadnaughts will be strung out in the direction of Long Beach pleasure pier from a point 1500 feet from the San Pedro breakwater, and the lighter boats will be arranged between the big vessels and the shore.

While the fleet is anchoring, no private boats will be allowed to cruise within the anchorage, and to make this a hard and fast rule, Capt. Chauncey Shackford, commander of the Submarine Base at Los Angeles Harbor, will have a patrol of submarine chasers on duty there.

On the day after the fleet's arrival it will be divided, and parts of it will be distributed to Long Beach, Redondo, Venice and Santa Monica.

San Francisco Awaits Word Of New Itinerary of Ships

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The Twelfth naval district headquarters here is momentarily expecting word from Washington regarding the new itinerary of the Pacific fleet, following Secretary Daniels' order delaying its arrival in San Francisco to August 20. The program for the armada during the time of its arrival at San Diego August 8, and its arrival here, is awaited with great interest throughout California. Delay in arrival here is due to postponement of President Wilson's departure from Washington. The postponement will make the fleet's entry here still more impressive, say naval officials, as this will enable a number of vessels yet to report to the Pacific fleet to join Admiral Rodman's floating command.

High Necked Gowns Must Be Worn at Fleet Dance

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Sailor men are cavalierly, despite talk of "horse-marines"—therefore, there will be no "bareback" exhibitions for the visiting gobs with the fleet at the big ball to be tendered there here.

The committee in charge of arrangements announced today that it will be a "full dress" affair so far as women are concerned, "full dress" in this case being used advisedly.

"Women attending and dancing must be clothed to the chin," is the edict.

The committee holds that dressers showing a broad expanse of bare back and an equally daring front exposure would be embarrassing to the eastern sailors.

Gowns without shoulder straps, they contend, always keep male spectators in apprehension—or anticipation—of a breakdown; and anyhow, it is contended, these gowns carry the suggestion of dishabille.

TURNER AND FORSTER HAVING GREAT TIME

J. A. (Jim) Turner and Frank Forster are having a great time on their auto trip north, according to a post card received today, mailed at Santa Rosa yesterday morning. But there, one thing about it, when Jim Turner goes to the legislature he's going to see to it that all towns on the state highway shall build good streets to connect with the state road. The roads were generally good, he writes, except in the towns "where they are rotten—just like North Main in Santa Ana." Turner also says he lost his coat between his ranch and Placencia but "it was before I got to Anaheim, though." Turner and Forster left Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and arrived at the San Francisco ferry in time for the 6 p. m. boat for Sausalito on Monday.

City and County Briefs

Alfred Catland, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Catland of 419 Wellington avenue, is another Santa Ana "gob" coming with the great Pacific fleet. He has been in the navy two years and is making the trip on the battleship Nebraska, upon which he has served for the past year and a half. He rates as gunners' mate, first class.

"The Fall of Babylon," David Wark Griffith's super-spectacle, opened a three day engagement at the Temple Theatre yesterday with shows at 2, 7 and 9 p. m., with Constance Talmadge as "The Mountain Girl" who tried to save the mighty city from Cyrus, the conqueror and the treacherous priests. But there was wine, laughter, and feasting and her warning went unheeded. The hordes of Cyrus entered the great gate opened by the priests, and Babylon fell, King Belshazzar dying by his own hand as the enemy enters his palace. Some of the thrilling scenes from "Intolerance" are adapted to the production. The show will be repeated today and Thursday.

There is a possibility that milk prices will go up another cent about September 1. Such a raise is being seriously considered in Los Angeles on the ground of high cost of labor and feed, but as yet there is nothing to indicate a raise by Santa Ana milk dealers. They see the proposed raise only as a possibility which may or may not materialize as a result of future conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Roussele, of Balboa, are on their way to Skagway, Alaska, having left Seattle by boat last Thursday. They enjoyed the 200 mile sail from San Pedro to Seattle, and had fine weather all the way. "Seattle is booming—it has a wonderful harbor," writes Roussele.

R. A. Tiernan of Riverside has opened offices at 219 West Fourth street under the name of the R. A. Tiernan Typewriter company. He has the agency for the "Silent" L. C. Smith machine and will buy, sell, rent and repair all makes of typewriters. He has brought his whole staff, including C. C. Webber, salesman, and Jerry Carpenter, for the service department, a department that should be appreciated by local people having typewriters. Tiernan has been in the business in Southern California for the past fifteen years.

The Union Lunch Room has moved from North Sycamore to 403 East Fourth street.

No trace has been found so far of W. Hartley the La Habra man who disappeared last week leaving a wife and two children. No reason is known for his disappearance as he was considered dependable and industrious. At first it was feared that he was temporarily mentally unbalanced but now it is thought he is a victim of underlust.

Lloyd I. Edwards has returned to his home in Santa Ana from the Anaheim Hospital.

Drillers for the Santa Ana Canyon Oil Co. the stockholders of which are all local men, have the hole down over 1000 feet and everything is going well. It is too early to expect indications of the big strike that is hoped for.

Lieutenant James E. Livesey and John Jacobs have arrived in the United States, is the word Mrs. Livesey received this morning in a telegram from her husband. Lieut. Livesey had been with Supply Train No. 422 for about two years, stationed near Nantes, France.

E. E. Vincent, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, in the absence of President Chas. F. Smith, has appointed Mac O. Robbins, F. L. Andrews and Secretary J. C. Metzgar to represent the Santa Ana Chamber at the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, to be held in Los Angeles Friday evening and Saturday morning. The meeting will adjourn at 11 o'clock Saturday, and those in attendance will go to Long Beach for the afternoon.

It was a bunch of Santa Ana men who saved Avalon from being destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. At least the Santa Ana folks helped, and if it hadn't been for the large number of volunteers who pitched in when the flames started, the loss in the business district would have been much greater. Among those who helped to fight the fire and remove valuable articles from buildings menaced were L. D. Mercereau, J. E. Kellogg, Ed Snidley, T. L. Warren and Martin Warren. The Warren party, which included Mrs. T. L. Warren, Mrs. Martin Warren, and Mrs. L. A. Warren.

First Orange County Soldier With French Bride Arrives Home

THE first Orange county boy to arrive home with a French war bride is Lieut. Paul Comstock of Anaheim. He and his bride arrived home Monday. Whether other Orange county boys are on the way home with some of France's pretty girls is not known.

The happy couple are at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Comstock, corner Lemon and Sycamore streets, Anaheim.

Lieut. Comstock was one of the Anaheim boys who received rapid promotion while in service and yielding to Cupid's darts wooed and won Miss Leonie Ribla of Nancy last May. His parents had known of the wedding but waited until he arrived to divulge the secret to his friends.

COLORADO FOLKS BUY WALNUT RANCH HERE

The P. A. Robinson twelve-acre walnut grove on Bristol street, just off Washington, has been sold to M. C. Heacock of Montrose, Colorado, son-in-law of E. P. Lamb of 317 South Sycamore street, who, with his wife, has been visiting here for a month past. Mr. and Mrs. Heacock left for the return trip home yesterday and expect to return within six months to make their home here.

GOOD AIRPLANES WORTH MILLION DESTROYED

NEW YORK, July 30.—A "million dollar fire," in which more than 100 airplanes in first class condition are alleged to have been destroyed in France under orders of American army officers, was the center of today's investigation by the congressional committee on the conduct of the war.

Witnesses testified that 100 or more airplanes including Liberty planes, Samsons and Spads, were piled up and burned during May in France after their motors had been destroyed. The first two witnesses were Lieut. Paul Lockwood and Sergt. Alfred Roror. Lockwood testified the fire was "apparently useless destruction" of planes in good condition. He said orders for the demolition were written and came from "officers higher up." He did not know their names.

Although he did not witness the fire Roror said he had been ordered to detail 60 men to do the work. Sergt. Fred Bailey testified he was in charge of 75 men who destroyed the planes and that all of the planes were in good condition and that the records showed one of them had been actually used only 20 minutes.

CRACK TEAMS TO PLAY INDOOR BALL

Contest With Long Beach Is Scheduled Here For This Evening

The pick of Santa Ana's crack indoor ball players tonight will go up against the best team in Long Beach on the local grounds on East Fourth street.

The local team will be composed of members of the clerks' team and Edison men's team, and the best will be picked for the game.

There are several indoor ball teams in the city and games are played at least once a week on the none grounds. Some good players are being developed.

Tomorrow night's game will be the first to be played with an outside team. The team coming is known as the Keel Club of Long Beach, composed of ship builders. It is reputed to be the best in that city, having played against many teams and going down to defeat only once.

With the interest displayed here in the game, a series of games with outside clubs is being talked of, and it is possible that lovers of the sport will have opportunity to witness some good contests here in the near future.

WOLGAST WILL MAKE EFFORT TO COME BACK

YUMA, Ariz., July 30.—Ad Wolgast, once the world's lightweight champion, has started a "comeback" effort. He will fight a local champion here Friday night and the winner of the bout is expected to meet Johnny McCarthy, of San Francisco, at Somerton, Ariz., during the Yuma county fair to be held there sometime in October.

LONDOS PINS ROGERS DOWN IN 42 MINUTES

LOCAL NIMRODS OFF FOR DEER OPENING

Up-Coast Country Is Destination Many Orange County Hunting Parties

When the deer season opens a half hour before sunrise on Friday morning in the up-country from Ventura to Mendocino, there will be many Orange county nimrods on the job, with all eyes eager for a sight of the elusive deer. If they are't "blazing away," it will be because the bucks of game districts two and three are too foxy for them.

Many local parties have been fitted up for a departure to the deer country, many have already gone, and probably the last of the opening delegation will be on their way by tonight or early tomorrow morning.

Ed Larter and his gang are going. Of course—they're always on the ground floor when there is a possibility of venison. Donald Larter, Mallett, Box Hazard and Frank Walker were deer hunters from away back, and their rifles will be ready for the operator. F. D. Plavan and his son are also bound for the happy hunting ground. Among the other local sportsmen who planned to take part are A. C. Curtice, E. A. Coones of Orange, Geo. McCrindle, R. G. Niefert, and A. B. Watson. George Spangler, too, is usually one of the early birds, and others too numerous to mention.

'Round Coast League Bases

Home runs: Fournier, Angels; Penner, Spears, Beavers; Compton, Rainiers.

The reconstructed Oaks with the aid of Falkenburg made the league leading Tigers seem weak, winning from them, 6 to 1.

Eighteen hits were all the Beavers could get off Pertica, but they downed the Angels anyway, 11 to 6.

Seattle errors contributed to their own downfall. The Bees won, 6 to 3. While the I-told-you-so league is still battling 'em out about Dempsey, Jim Scott got off to a bad start. The Senators found 11 innings sufficient to nose out the Seals, 3 to 2.

FLEET SHIPS FOR ALL PORTS BUT NEWPORT

Distribution Will Be Made to Long Beach, Redondo and
Santa Monica-Venice

According to a schedule announced from Los Angeles, Newport is the only harbor point in the vicinity of San Pedro that is not to have the honor of having one or two ships of the Pacific fleet anchored off shore.

It is said the ships are to be assigned to San Pedro, Long Beach, Redondo Beach and Venice-Santa Monica. The fleet will pass along the Orange county shore line some time in the early afternoon of August 9. It is due at San Pedro from San Diego at 2 p. m., and if that schedule is maintained, the fighting boats should be off Newport about 1 o'clock.

Whether the armada will come in close enough to the shores of Orange county to give people a good view is not known as yet. Secretary Metzgar of the Chamber of Commerce has asked Congressman Kettner to see if he cannot arrange for the fleet to come in close.

Metzgar wrote Kettner at Washington and yesterday received an answer from Kettner, who is at San Diego, the letter having been forwarded to him. Kettner advised that he would take the matter up with Secretary Daniels upon his arrival on the coast. Metzgar wrote back and asked him to take up the question by wire or direct as to the best method to get in touch with the situation, so that Metzgar could handle it from this end.

CLEARANCE SALE WHITE SHOES

Here's an opportunity you'd hardly expect during these days of high prices and merchandise scarcity. A sale of any kind is a welcome thing today. But a sale of staple, high quality goods, such as we offer at this White Shoe Sale, is indeed rare. In looking over our stocks we discovered that we had on hand more white footwear than we wished to carry over. This was due largely to the fact that our shipments of white shoes, due last spring, did not arrive until recently. So we decided to clean them out quickly and make room for Fall arrivals. The substantial price reductions shown below will accomplish our purpose quickly. Come in the morning if possible; we can then give you better service before the rush of the afternoon crowds.

THE PROMISED LAND

The Zionist plans for the re-occupation of Palestine are going right ahead, despite opposition and delay in determining the final status of that country. The Zionists assume that the plans of the British, who took that region from the Turks, will be carried out, probably in the form of a Jewish republic under the protection of the League of Nations. Whatever the arrangement, the Jews seem assured of pretty complete autonomy and freedom from the restrictions and persecutions so long imposed by the Turks on Jews and Christians alike.

Some Zionist leaders say that no less than one million Hebrews from Europe and America will go to Palestine to live. Tens of thousands are said to be already engaged in familiarizing themselves with the topography, climate, soil and business opportunities of the region and planning particularly to introduce modern methods of agriculture. This is considerably more than the present population. If the expectation is realized, therefore, the political and social problems of the settlers will be simplified by their numerical superiority.

The present inhabitants are mostly Turks and Arabs, hardly capable of successful competition with the fresh, vigorous, modern type of Hebrew who returns as a pioneer to the land of his fathers.

It will surely take courage, energy and science to redeem that little, sacred strip of land between the Dead Sea and the Mediterranean. It seems to have been fertile and well-watered in ancient times, otherwise it could hardly have been the "Promised Land" that it was to the Children of Israel. If so, the climate has changed much. Today it is mostly semi-arid, with a soil which, even when watered, shows itself impoverished. There are big areas of hopeless rock and sand.

It is more like Utah than the ordinary conception of it gained from the Bible. Still, many parts of Utah have been made to blossom as the rose. Perhaps these hopeful Zionists can do the same with Palestine. Certainly in their efforts the good will of all the world will go with them.

WARNED AGAIN

Once more the government is sending out warnings to the public to beware of commercial exploitation of the soldier's or sailor's uniform. The New Bedford, Mass., Chamber of Commerce is conducting a campaign to discourage all commercial projects which make their appeal through patriotism. Australia is making a similar stand against the use of military terms and patriotic appeals in strictly commercial advertising.

The public itself ought to be so tired of this sort of thing, done by a few unscrupulous and dishonest people, that it would do all it could to discourage such grafting on ignorant sympathy without these renewed warnings. It is well to remember, too, when begging is done in the name of patriotism, that true patriotism calls for something quite different. Justice to the man who has actually been in service, and who has played his part honorably and courageously, demands that all this faking and sloppy sentiment and alms-giving should be thrown overboard. The country is anxious and willing to take care of its disabled men in a dignified way, and it proposes to prevent crooks from taking advantage of the general public, in whose hearts there is an unbounded sympathy for men who fought and suffered. The man who uses his uniform as a means of gaining admission to a person's confidence that he may sell doubtful stocks or doubtful merchandise is to be classed among those against whom the government has issued its warnings.

THE NEEDS OF RUSSIA

The Archbishop of Kherson and Odessa, who is now in the United States, sends an open letter to "All Archbishops and spiritual leaders of all Christian churches, denominations and Christian Societies in general throughout the United States of America."

In this letter, Archbishop Platon, who had served in the United States and in Alaska for seven years before being raised to his present position, asks all Christians of whatever sect to come to the aid of bleeding Russia. He says, "No human words can describe the affliction and horrors of the Russian tragedy of today."

"The faith of a most religious people has been humiliated, derided, profaned. One-half the educated class, small at best, have been massacred. Russian women have been violated and dishonored. Children have been mercilessly butchered. The machinery of government has been destroyed. Agriculture and industry have been deranged. The finances of the country have been completely exhausted."

He begs all Christians everywhere to pray for his unhappy country, and to help it. He tells of hunger, of exhaustion, of epidemic.

"There are no medicines. The most indispensable articles of linen are totally lacking. I beg of you all, my brethren, to call upon your Red Cross to make haste to the aid of a perishing people, and upon your Young Men's Christian Association to increase their beneficent work."

This faith of the Russian prelate in these two democratic agencies of American service is appealing.

That the American people would be glad to help Russia is certain. How to go about it is an unsolved question.

The nearest we can get to a satisfactory reason for the cost-of-living situation is that everything is going up because everything else is.

Optimistic View

Riverside Press

Repeated warnings have been issued by medical authorities as to the probability of a recurrence of the flu next winter. It is a relief to have Dr. A. W. Freeman, state health commissioner of Ohio, prophesy that the dreaded visitor will not return.

Dr. Freeman believes that people who have not had the disease were immune to start with. And those who have it now immunized. That is to say, those who have not had the flu are those who would not get it under any circumstances, and those who have suffered once or oftener have now become safe from another attack.

"We are planning the machinery to battle with another epidemic," says the health commissioner. "I don't think we will have to use it, but we want to be prepared for any eventuality. Of course, there probably will be exceptions to the rule, I believe. There won't be an epidemic if I know anything about it."

Mark the fact that Dr. Freeman is not content to rest upon his own prophesy. If the other doctors are right, and he is wrong, he is going to be ready. In July he is perfecting his defense against a possible offensive by the enemy in the fall. He is maintaining the hopeful attitude that the hostile forces have been so weak that they are no longer to be feared. But if they bring up unexpected reinforcements, he is ready so that his line may not be pierced.

That's a pretty good attitude for everyone to take. Building up the vitality by sense and sunshine, and keeping cheerful and prepared, are the best preventatives of any epidemic.

New Americanism

Oakland Tribune

Anybody can make a theatrical gesture and cry, "This is America and I am an American." But who will give the full, rich meaning to the new Americanism, an Americanism that realizes that the shores of the Old World have been brought very close to the New; that dangers threaten this country from abroad and that America is not afraid to face those dangers in their native zones and to make the world safe for Americanism both at home and abroad?

THE RED CROSS

Henry Durrant, the Swiss physician to whom the Red Cross Society owes its inception, said:

"Though I am known as the founder of the Red Cross and the originator of the Convention of Geneva, it is to an Englishwoman that all the honor of that convention is due. What inspired me was the work of Miss Nightingale in the Crimea. After her work in the Crimean War, Queen Victoria of England, presented her with a cross of red enamel. It lay in a box on a pillow of white satin, whence comes the emblem of the Red Cross."

DOUBLY PROTECTED.

"If you keep on as you have begun, Mabel," complained the young husband, running his eye over the expense account, "we shall never be able to lay up anything for a rainy day."

"How can you say so, Henry," exclaimed the young wife, righteously indignant. "when you know I have two of the loveliest rainproof costumes that were ever made!"—Exchange.

On The Trail

California Recognized

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican has been a consistent supporter of President Wilson throughout his administration and is a strong advocate and defender of the league of nations. It is interesting, therefore, to find that paper making the recent address in that city of Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California against the league the leading feature of its issue of Sunday, July 13. The report of the meeting is featured with a fine cut of the California senator and the following high compliment is paid him:

Loud-voiced acclaim was given to the denunciation of the league of nations and the exposition of simon-pure Americanism made by Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California before an audience of over 2,000 at the auditorium last night. The senator's mastery of his well-known sarcastic vein amused his hearers, including many supporters of the league, and the ridicule he brought to bear upon his opponents was repeatedly cheered. This power of bantering punctuated and drove home, with the aid of the speaker's thumping right arm, his insistence upon the disaster which an acceptance of the league of nations as now planned would constitute to the American people.

No one present, whether in sympathy with Senator Johnson's arguments or opposed to them, failed to feel the tremendous earnestness and whole-heartedness of his appeal. He spoke with the force and resource of a debater, rather than the rhetorical phraseology of an orator, and there was a punch behind his every period. His voice was carrying if not resonant and clear cut; his gestures were forceful and at all times he was impatient of applause. Not a small part of his audience was composed of Republicans and Independents in politics to whom part of the interest of the evening was the personal measuring of a man frequently mentioned as a Republican candidate for president in 1920, and a large measure of the applause came from this group.

Californians, whether they agree with Senator Johnson or not on this issue, cannot fail to feel a sense of pride that a man from this state is able to win from conservative New England recognition like this. Not since Stephen M. White was in the senate, has California had a man in either house in congress who was a national figure as Johnson is. The senator is a native son, a true product of California; and the state is proud of the prominence which he has attained in the senate and the reputation which he has established as one of the most trenchant and effective speakers in public life today.

(By L. Adelaid Sherman, in Springfield (Mass.) Republican)

Summer long fled—and lo, a purple veil

Wide flung to hide the naked, trembling trees;

A mournful note was in the brook's low song,

A minor key re-echoed in the breeze,

The blossoms fell and faded, one by one,

As southward, ever southward, moved the sun.

And then you came, and stood beside my chair,

Clasped close my head, and looked into my eyes,

Laid tenderly your cheek against my hair—

You seemed a messenger from Paradise—

A visioned angel that could heal the smart

The years had left upon my vanquished heart.

Outside the dead leaves whirl in eddying gusts;

But what to us is wind or stormy strife?

The sunshine of a summer, memory-clasped,

Has left one mirrored ray across my life.

There is no autumn now of doubts and fears,

For us, united after many years.

$42,213 IS PAID TO COUNTY BY MOTOR DEPT.

About September 1 Orange county will receive a check for $42,213 from the State motor vehicle department as its share of the money collected for the registration of motor cars in this county. The sum received last year from the last semi-annual apportionment was $35,926, showing a gain of $6,287.

The check for $42,213 represents Orange county's half of the money collected from the first of the year, and this total is much larger than that of the second half, when new cars and transfers make up the bulk of the business, rather than renewals. The money is to be used, according to the law, by the five supervisory districts as they see fit in the building of new roads.

The sum received for the second half of last year was $55,124. The report from Sacramento shows San Bernardino receiving $39,168, Imperial $27,957 and San Diego $58,645.

If she lied she was justified. She said she needed a new dress. She did need it but hadn't the necessary. She had a temper. She had spirit. She had a King. Find out about this at the Temple theater tonight. "The Fall of Babylon" tells it to you.

Answer to "Sonny": Eighteen isn't too early to marry, young fellow, but $10 a week is.—Arkansas Thomas-Cat.

"She can bake and she can brew,"
"Brew?" said the colonel. "Brew, eh?"
That's worth looking into."

The best way to see France, we found, is from the stern of a transport, says a contributor to the Gas Attack.

What, asks Life, has become of the "poor workingman" who used to say every Saturday night, "Well, thank goodness! I still have my job?"

Vicar—Nothing to be thankful for! Why, think of poor old Hodge losing his wife through the flu! Giles—Well, that don't do me no good. I ain't Hodge.

"Does your wife take in washing, Sam?" "No, sah." "But, I understand she did take in washing, Sam?" "No, sah, you're wrong. I takes in de washin', sah, and I takes de washin' out. All m' wife does is t' stay at home and do it, sah."

Baillie McTavish—An so ye leave Glesca' on Monday. What are ye dain' the morrow night? Mr. Jarvie—Tomorrow, Thursday, I've no engagement. Baillie—An' the nixt nixt? Mr. J.—I'm free then, too. Baillie—An' what will ye be dain' on Saturday? Mr. J.—On Saturday I dine with the Buchans. Baillie—What a peety! An' wanted ye tae tak dinner wi' us on Saturday.

A young woman was telling a friend about an acquaintance, a young man named Francis, whom the second girl had never seen. "What sort of a chap is Francis, anyhow?" asked the listener. "Well," the other replied, after a moment's thought, "if ever you see two men in a corner and one looks bored to death, the other one is Francis."

"England really did dig deeply into its resources during the war," insists Lord Northcliffe. "I am reminded of the old woman who had come up from the country to see her married daughter in London. Motorbuses and taxicabs were out of the question, and she was a little nervous of having a 'growler.' She chose a man with a good-tempered face, and timidly inquired: 'There is no fear of your horse running away, is there?' He's not afraid of motors, is he?' 'Bless you, no, mum,' said the genial cabbie. 'Why he didn't even shy at railway trains when they first come in.'"

There is a lawyer in Toledo, Ohio, who finds zest in browbeating witnesses for the opposition. He rains insinuations against the integrity of the persons he cross-examines, and unnerves them. And in at least one court (where the judge is an old colleague of his), Mr. Browbeater gets away with his deadly word, relates Judge. But sometimes he slips, even in that favorable court. For instance: An old negro whitewasher sat trembling before him in the witness chair. "You are Sam Harrison?" demanded the attorney. "Yes, sah." "And you are the Sam Harrison who was sentenced for robbery?" "No, sah, Ah'm not that Harrison." "You are perhaps the Harrison who was sentenced to two years imprisonment for grand larceny?" "No, sah, Ah'm not that Harrison either." "Were you ever in prison?" "Yes, sah." "How long were you in there?" "A whole afternoon." "And for what?" "Ah was whitewashin' a cell for a lawyer who had been locked up for beatin' his clients."

Former Anaheim Man Honored.

The following will be of interest to the many friends of Rev. David Todd Gilmore, well known in Orange county and former chaplain of the Elks lodge in this city:

Following a long and interesting career in church and army work, Rev. David Todd Gilmore, who seven years ago was assistant pastor to Rev. William MacCormack, dean of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, has once more been elected by the vestry to fill that position. A complimentary dinner, in honor of Rev. Mr. Gilmore and his family, will be given tonight at the Parish House. About 150 members of the church are expected to be present. Dr. A. S. Lobingier will make the address of welcome, Dean MacCormack will be toastmaster and among the other speakers will be Bishop Johnson.

Rev. Mr. Gilmore, who lives at 125 South Los Robles street, Pasadena, was appointed to the assistant pastorate of St. Paul's immediately after he finished his course at the Divinity School at San Mateo. While co-operating with Rev. Dr. MacCormack, he married Miss Manonah Brizzolari, a popular Los Angeles girl, and shortly after the marriage he went to Anaheim, where he became rector of St. Michael's. From there he was called to St. John's Church at San Bernardino, and remained there until the beginning of the war, when he entered the Chaplain's Training School at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky. Twelve days after having been graduated from that school, Rev. Mr. Gilmore was commissioned for overseas service, being assigned to the One Hundred and Thirty-second Infantry, Thirty-third division, a Chicago regiment which was then in front-line work with the British at Amiens. He served in the American area in the Argonne and St. Mihiel sectors and, after the armistice was signed, was sent to Base Hospital No. 16, just back of the line. He arrived home June 29 and at present is enjoying a vacation at Catalina.

He will preach next Sunday morning and evening at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, relieving Dean MacCormack who, accompanied by his family, will leave Los Angeles within a few days for a vacation at Carmel. From there Rev. Mr. MacCormack plans to go to Detroit to attend the Triennial Convention of the Episcopal Churches of America. While in the East he will visit his father, John MacCormack, at Hamilton, Ont.

On their way they stopped at Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and went up Mt. Rainier as far as Paradise Tavern. They went with the expectation of returning about the tenth of August.

To Forest Home.

G. W. S. To Award Medals.

The Girls' War Service League, headed by Miss Gertrude Montgomery, is to have charge of the awarding of the medals to the service men at the big county celebration on September ninth at Orange County Park. The manner in which the honors are to be distributed has not been definitely decided. There will be about sixty girls in all, forty from the local league and the others representatives from the different districts.

Some of the War Service girls are to have the honor of serving coffee at the governor's table.

Continue Pleasant Work.

Continuing the pleasant work of sewing for the room, which they have promised for the new orphans' home of the Rebekah lodge, which is being erected, the members of the Torosa Orphans class met again yesterday with the Noble Grand, Mrs. Ada Walters on West Fourth street.

The regular work of piecing quilts was varied with tea, which aside from affording a period of social pleasure, brought in a neat little sum of money for the cause. Ice cream and cake were served.

The home was made very attractive with lovely Maman Cochet roses artistically arranged in vases, and potted ferns.

There was a goodly attendance, including a few visitors and those who do not attend certainly miss a treat.

The following are the officers of the class elected yesterday: President, Mrs. Maude Swarthout; secretary, treasurer, Miss Lottie Lyman; chairman of class, Mrs. George W. Ford.

Wiener Bake at Laguna.

Miss Aline Larrimer of Los Angeles and her sister, gave a wiener bake last evening at Laguna Beach for a number of their friends. Several Santa Ana people were guests including Misses Rena Cranston, Laura Davis, Marguerite Tedford and Messrs. Gordon House, Keith Davis and Ralph Beals.

Benefit For Art Class.

The little colony of Riverside artists, who were studying with Miss Evelyn Nunn at Laguna Beach and who lost most of their possessions when the J. George Hunter cottage, which they were occupying, was destroyed by fire, is to be the inducement for a benefit play Friday night at Laguna.

In order to help the girls replace the paint brushes and other art materials which they lost, a group of Pomona College students have come to their assistance and will give "All on Account of Peggy," a three-act comedy. The cast will include sixteen clever young people, and there will be numerous musical interpolations. The play is also to be given in the girls' high school in Riverside, Monday evening. Beneficiaries of the affair will be Misses Thelma Henderson, Sarah Neblett, Sarah Sharp, Ruth Snyder, Katherine Gamble and Mildred Porter.

Balderston Wedding Anniversary

"Backward, turn backward, Oh, time, in thy flight, Make me a child again Just for tonight."

There was a most interesting gathering of "ye old time folks" at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Balderston last evening, the occasion being the celebration of their wedding anniversary and as the invitations implied that it was to be a "hard time" affair the representative company demonstrated that it had not forgotten how to wear old time clothes and there were others beside Worthy Patron Brown, who thought his overalls and soft collars was an ideal dress in which to spend a warm evening.

There were old maids, Sis Hopkines, brides, and many other characters, to say nothing of the handsome bevy of "girls" who looked almost as young as ever.

The delightful home of the Balderstons, where so many happy gatherings have been held and where such a warm welcome is always extended, had been transformed into a bower of beauty and what wonder, when all day bouquets and baskets of beautiful flowers had been arriving with congratulations and best wishes for this highly esteemed couple.

Preceding the card games, which were the main entertainment of the evening, the following program was given:

Quartet, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Meses. Winbiger and Robbins, and Messrs. Rowland and Winbiger, Mrs. Rowland accompanist; Readings, "Pat's Witticism" and "The First Love, Mary of Coltraine; Vocal Solo, "The Missouri Waltz," Mrs. Bert Cloyes; Readings, "Barbara Frietchie" and "Mary Had a Little Lamb," Mrs. Bessie Robbins; Duet, in costume, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland; Piano Solo, Miss Flossie Zerman.

Rev. W. L. H. Benton's well chosen remarks were followed by pages from the history of the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Balderston, related by themselves in a manner that proved most interesting to their guests.

Refreshments were served on small tables and were in keeping with the occasion, the curiously scalloped and fringed table cloths looking very like the neat pages of the Santa Ana Register.

Water was served from a bucket by means of the old-fashioned dipper, but the paper plates and dishes looked rather modern.

After admiring the many lovely gifts and congratulations had been extended, all joined in singing old-time songs. To make sure that the happy day should not miss being celebrated to its very close, just as the wedding bell clock chimed the midnight hour all joined in singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

The invited list included Messrs. and Meses. Trueblood, McCleery, Sherman Evans, Cornelius, Brown, Vern Whitson, Patterson, Reeves, Robbins, Reinhaus, Robt. Evans, H. Clay Kellogg, Rowland, Zerman, Winbiger, Barker, Cochran, Preston, Norton, Cloyes, McCormack, Rev. and Mrs. Benton; Misses Flossie Zerman, Pauline Reinhaus, Teresa Reinhaus, Jean Battersby, Walter Reeves and Julius Reinhaus.

MAILS NOTICES AUTOMOBILISTS IN BATTLE ON SQUIRRELS

Rodent Control Man Busy In Section West of the Santa Ana River

The days of a considerable number of squirrels in the section west of the Santa Ana river are numbered. C. W. Wardwell, deputy county horticultural commissioner in charge of rodent control, was today mailing out notices to owners of property in the districts centering around Cypress and Stanton, calling upon them to take action in the matter of squirrel extermination.

Wardwell has been operating in the southern and northern parts of the county and through meeting with co-operation with property owners large numbers of the rodents have been done away with. He is finding it necessary to mail notices in the present instance because of the fact that many ranchers in the section west of the river are non-residents.

The property owners are widely scattered. In one instance a notice had to be sent to Georgia.

Those receiving notices must begin to put out poisoned barley or other exterminator within fifteen days or be liable for notice, otherwise Wardwell will do the work and a lien will be put on the property by the county to pay the costs.

SAYS DRIVER TRIED SMART ALECK TRICKS

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a man who drove a Ford truck along the state highway near San Juan Capistrano in a way that indicated that he was "playing smart." Oscar Rosenbaum swore to the complaint and Abraham Taifer of 1559 East Twentieth street, Los Angeles, is named as defendant. Rosenbaum said that his wife and daughter were driving a machine on the highway when they caught up with the truck. The truck driver would not let them go by. He would slow up. If Mrs. Rosenbaum tried to pass, he crowded over and took up the road. Mrs. Rosenbaum took his auto license number. The warrant is issued for the man in whose name the car is registered.

Stanke, his wife said, receives as high as $6 a day as a cement finisher, and as proof of his ability to properly support her, exhibited twelve checks, totaling $205, which she said Stanke had passed at wineries and other liquor resorts of Anaheim.

MAYOR MITCHELL RETURNS FROM TRIP EAST

Says Minnesota Is Prosperous With Land Values Advancing All the Time

Declaring that Minnesota is rolling in wealth, with land values booming and big crops predominating and that Santa Ana is the place where living is worth while, Mayor John G. Mitchell is home from an eight weeks' visit to his old friends in Fairmont, Minn., just as much in love with Santa Ana as he was the day he left here. Notwithstanding the fact that he had a good time and all of his old friends vied with each other in extending hospitality, he is mighty glad to be back in the city over which he today is the chief executive.

"The people in Minnesota are prosperous, as they are out here, and they are busy gathering in the shekels for the day when they might come to California and make their home," declared the Mayor today. "They have money to burn. That condition existed everywhere I went. It is a wonderfully prosperous time everywhere."

"Minnesota crops are good. Land values there are jumping. They have advanced 75 per cent since the first of the year and 100 per cent since I left there five years ago. It took a good ranch at that time to bring $150 per acre. Today the prices range from $250 to $400 per acre, depending on location and character of soil."

"Believe me, we have some good California boosters right in Fairmont. A number of my friends who have been here at different times for the winter I found to be real live boosters—and they are sincere."

"Clayton A. Porter and Frank K. Porter, president and cashier, respectively, of the First National Bank, who have spent winters here, are good scouts and good boosters for California."

"Miss Lillie B. Derby, a member of the staff of the Sentinel, who was a guest at my home two or three years ago, may be listed among those who are saying good words for California and Santa Ana."

"Minnesota is all right, it is a good state, but when it comes to living—well, Santa Ana suits me all right."

Mitchell was secretary of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company for twenty years before coming to Santa Ana and while there the directors made a meeting a special occasion for complimenting Mitchell. A banquet with the directors and himself as the only ones present was the feature.

Could you love a girl who ate onions? The Rhapsodie did. D. W. Griffith tells about it in The Fall of Babylon at the Temple today and Thursday—well worth seeing.

JAMES MITCHELL DIED YESTERDAY, AGED 74

James D. Mitchell, for many years a resident of Santa Monica and for five years of Santa Ana, passed away at 5:30 yesterday afternoon at his home, 113 South Broadway, after only two days' illness with ptomaine poisoning, he having been in robust health until Monday night. He was a good soldier of the Cross of Christ and a devout church worker.

Besides the widow, Eulah Mitchell, deceased leaves one daughter, Mrs. S. C. Thorp of 928 West First street.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9:30 at the Church of Christ, corner Walnut street and Broadway, of which Mr. Mitchell was a member, and interment will be at Santa Monica beside the grave of his first wife, who passed away several years ago.

Dr. H. N. Brothers has taken out a permit for the erection of a seven-room house at 1421 North Broadway to cost $3500.

Bad Results From Taking Substitutes For Nuxated Iron

Startling Case Cited—Physician Warns Public and Says Ordinary Metallic Iron Preparations Cannot Possibly Give The Same STRENGTH, POWER AND ENDURANCE AS Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron.

The tremendous success of Nuxated Iron as a tonic, strength and blood-builder (it being estimated that over three million people annually are now using it) has led to the offering of numerous substitutes and imitations. Investigation shows that many of these instead of being organic iron may be nothing more than a metallic iron compound which may in some instances produce more harm than good. Typical among the cases reported is one of a woman who has threatened to sue for damages the druggist who sold her something purporting to be the genuine Nuxated Iron but which, while similar in name, package and appearance was nothing more than a spurious article, imitating the real. This woman claims that instead of obtaining increased strength and improved health as she had with the true Nuxated Iron, she was seriously upset and in fact became ill as a result of using the substitute.

Such instances as these have led physicians mentioned below to emphasize that health officials and doctors everywhere should caution the public against accepting substitutes for Nuxated Iron. Those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder should go to their family doctors and obtain a prescription calling for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and present this to their druggist so that there may be no question about obtaining the proper article. But if they do not wish to go to the trouble of getting a prescription for Nuxated Iron then they should be sure to look on the label and see that the words Nuxated Iron are printed thereon.

There are thousands of people taking iron who do not distinguish between organic iron and metallic iron and such persons often fail to obtain the vital energy, strength and endurance which they seek simply because they have taken the wrong form of iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength and see how much you have gained.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: The widespread publication of the above information has been suggested by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly Physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Department) New York and the Washington County Hospital, Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author; Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon, Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey; Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly Physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner and others so that the public may be informed of this subject and protected from the use of metallic iron preparations that is to Nuxated Iron or all about something as good as Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not upset the stomach, make them black or impart the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser who will read your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

HOME WELCOMING COMMITTEES TO MEET

Barbecue at Orange County Park to Feature Gathering Friday Night

The executive and advisory committees for the big home welcoming to the returned service men on Sept. 9th at Orange county park, will meet at the park Friday evening of this week, to discuss plans for the big event.

There are about 200 members of the committee, representing every district in the county, and they will gather at a barbecue to be held at 7 o'clock in the evening. Pleasure and business will feature the evening.

The celebration of the home coming of the boys will be one of the biggest events ever attempted in Orange county, and the members of the two committees have lots of work to do. For the purpose of acquainting every one with the plans of the event, the meeting is to be held Friday evening, and after that there will be something for every one to do until the big day.

The membership drive to take place between Aug. 11 and 16 will be the first real active work. It is hoped to have a membership of between 20,000 and 25,000 in the Orange County War Service Recognition Association, with a membership fee of $1. Each community will conduct a drive along the lines of the Liberty Loan campaigns.

Membership buttons will be provided, and certainly there are few in the county who will not covet one of these emblems of membership in an association that is to give a fine demonstration to the men who went to war of the high esteem in which they are held by their neighbors and friends. It is believed the campaign can be put over in less than the allotted time, but to make sure that everyone is given an opportunity to become identified with the organization, the week period has been arranged.

BOND ELECTION WILL BE HELD SEPT. 2ND

Registration and Transfers Made This Week Give Opportunity to Vote

The election for $50,000 bonds for a high school assembly hall is to be held on September 2. The date for the election was set at a meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Education last night.

The school board met with City Attorney Scott, and the resolution calling the election was passed. Under the election call, the city is to be divided into six precincts. Each precinct will comprise a city ward, excepting in the Fourth ward, which will be divided into two precincts.

The polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. The bonds are proposed as a means of securing money with which to build a creditable assembly hall for school purposes to take the place of the barn-like fire-trap that the schools have been compelled to use for lack of something adequate to their needs.

Registration and transfers for the election must be completed this week.

At the meeting of the school board last night it was decided to place heavy linoleum on the floor of the first-floor hall of the administration building of the high school. This floor has been subjected to heavy usage.

Miss Anna L. Trythall was elected as a teacher in the high school, taking the place of Miss Alice Gail.

CULLS INCREASE PIN MONEY OF 'LADY OF THE HOUSE'

Association Members Get Another 'Divvy' From Inferior Grade of Walnuts

The Walnut Growers "budded better than they thought" when they instituted cull crackers as a side line with packing houses. One of the best crackers in the state is located here and operated in connection with the packing house of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers Association. There are two others, one at Santa Barbara and one at Los Angeles.

Walnut Growers Receive Another Dividend

Members of the Walnut Association are wearing broad smiles this week because they have just received another one of those "final payments" on their cull walnuts. Perhaps it should be said that the wives of these members are wearing these smiles for in many household establishments it has long been understood that the returns from the culls were to go to the "lady of the house." Some growers claim that this is the reason the newer walnut packing plants are insisting on every member delivering all of his nuts without sorting out the culls at home. In any event, growers say that this last dividend was just like finding it and with the attractive summer frocks on display in the local stores the women folks will soon be wearing something new besides broad smiles.

On May 5th the central office in Los Angeles mailed to every grower a check "for final season's returns" on his culls. This payment made in May was just 50 per cent more than the season's opening prices named by the board of directors last fall and came as a pleasant surprise to the growers. It was made possible because of sales made at higher prices, certain economies practiced in the cracking plants in spite of the increased labor cost and the profitable sale of the shells.

But now along comes the "final cleanup" on last season's culls representing a total additional dividend of about $20,000 for the growers. The balancing of the Association's books for the season gave this additional surplus for distribution to all participants in the 1918 season cull pool.

The successful handling of the cull walnuts has been made possible by the operation of three cracking plants located at Los Angeles, Santa Barbara and Santa Ana. All of the good meats are extracted from the culls after being cracked by machines on which the Association owns patents. The nation wide demand for these walnut meats has been built up by the Association's 150 representatives in the distributing markets, hence the reason why the Association can pay to its members several times what they used to receive for their culls. By removing these poor nuts from the local markets cull peddlers are prevented from working them off as first class nuts to the detriment of the reputation of all California walnuts. At the same time the consumers are provided with an edible food product and the growers paid much higher returns than before the cracking plants were established.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

One would not think it necessary to present arguments to a man endowed with reason to convince him that it is for his interests to join some building and loan association and to lay aside for the proverbial "Rainy Day"—that is, one would not think so unless he has been an observer of human nature. It is a fact that there are hundreds of rational people in this city who intend to become members of the Home Mutual Building & Loan Association but who continually put off joining on account of some trivial excuse. They console themselves with the thought that soon they will start a savings account.

Tomorrow is a very pleasant employer but a poor paymaster.

Codling Moth in Walnuts, Present Status Discussed By Station Entomologist

THE present status of the codling moth in walnuts is here discussed for the Farm Bureau section of the Register by Prof. H. J. Quayle, entomologist, of the Citrus Experiment Station at Riverside. Prof. Quayle's article reads as follows:

Roy K. Bishop and the writer have been investigating the codling moth in walnuts in the Santa Ana vicinity continuously since the beginning of the present season. It is the purpose of this investigation, not only throughout the present season, but for at least another year or long enough to get the facts regarding this recent pest of walnuts.

The codling moth deposits its eggs on the nuts. Early in the season some of these eggs may be deposited on the walnut leaves or stems.

These eggs are very minute objects, about the size of a head of a small pin and no thicker than writing paper and of a whitish color. These eggs hatch in 8 or 10 days into small larvae or worms and it is in this stage that the damage is done to the nuts. Many of the earliest of these enter the blossom end of the nut, similar to the habits of the same insect in the apple.

They are still continuing to enter the blossom end to some extent, but at this season more of them enter where two nuts are in contact. The larvae bore directly into the nuts until the shell becomes hardened. From our observations it appears that the

PLANS WARFARE TO BE RID OF SCRUB BULL

The Farm Bureau would be rid of the scrub bull, and would have owners of cows in Orange county breed their cows to pure bred bulls. The latest project put under way by the Farm Bureau is a bull association. Concerning it and its value, the Farm Advisor has issued the following:

"Bull associations, though few in number, wage eternal warfare on the scrub. The scrub bull has done much damage in this country. He is worse than worthless. He lowers the production of all future generations of the herd he heads. He can not increase milk production even in a herd of scrubs, because, like them, he is a scrub. In a herd of better breeding, the damage he may do is almost limitless."

"The grade bull is little better because, most of his ancestors being scrubs, he is certain to transmit scrub qualities to his offspring. The grade bull may have the form and color markings of a purebred, but he lacks the power to transmit with any degree of certainty the qualities of any high producing ancestors he may have. That herd is very good indeed in which a grade bull can make any maraeu improvement."

"The registered scrub comes of low producing registered ancestors. Therefore he transmits only inferior qualities to his calves. Registration is not enough to guarantee production. Permanent dairy herd improvement can never come from the scrub, the grade, or the registered scrub."

"Write the farm advisor about joining the bull association and get use of pure bred high producing bulls."

SUCCESS OF DAIRIES DEPENDS ON HUSTLING

When war and reconstruction discouragements are driving out the unprofitable cow and the incompetent cow owner, there is a better chance than ever for the aggressive, resourceful dairyman who has good cows and a pure-bred bull of proven ancestry, and who is growing most of his own feed and who is not wholly dependent upon hired help and purchased feed.

BUARO FARMERS HAVE MEETING FRIDAY UPON DRAINAGE

Through Discussion, Plan to Better the Land May Be Worked Out

Another drainage project is the result of the general drainage meeting held at Garden Grove the first of the month. The farmers of Buaro district east of Garden Grove are considering the organization of a drainage system, and the project will be discussed at a meeting to be held next Friday night, August 1, at the Garden Grove school house at 8 p. m.

The water table in the Buaro section is coming too close to the surface for the best growth of trees. Alkali areas are showing up where insufficient drainage has failed to keep the salts down. An underground tile system is contemplated which will discharge either into the Santa Ana river bed or into one of the lower drainage canals.

All property owners of Buaro district are urged to attend this drainage meeting. Attorney Head and Farm Advisor Wahlberg will discuss the drainage laws and process of organization.

MILKING MACHINE MUST BE CARED FOR

Milking machines, like all other farm machinery, must have good care and management in order to fulfill the purpose for which they were invented. In addition, however, to the care bestowed on machines to keep them in order and ready for best working results the milking machine must be always kept in a clean and sanitary condition or the troublemaker will needs be called in.

During the present period of unrest among practically all industrial workers the milking, if properly handled, is a form of insurance against too high wages or shortage of help from any cause. How to be ready for emergencies is clearly set forth by E. M. Washburn of Minnesota university farm. He says:

Unless they are kept in a clean and sanitary condition they are a menace to the quality of the milk drawn by them.

To keep them safe they not only require thorough cleaning in warm, soapy water, with suitable brushes to reach into tubes and crevices, but they must be kept when not in use in some disinfecting solution. Yet to get results it is not necessary to buy expensive germicides; old-fashioned chloride of lime will serve every purpose. This is made, as follows:

Stock Solution—Dissolve a 12-ounce can of chloride of lime (calcium hypochloride) in 3 quarts of water; let settle, pour off the clear liquid, and put it in a jug or dark glass bottle and keep tightly corked.

Working Solution—Add one pint of stock to 100 gallons of water or one-half pint to 50 gallons, or smaller amounts in proportion. This should be kept "alive" by the addition daily of stock solution at the rate of about one ounce to each 25 gallons of the working solution.

How to Use—The test cups and tubes should be plunged directly into the solution and all pockets of air in the tube emptied so that the water may come into actual contact with the walls of the rubber.

To sterilize milk bottles, pails and cans, the same working solution may be employed and will be found generally more effective than the hot water methods commonly used.

CLEARANCE LISTS SHOULD BE MAILED

Farm Bureau members are asked to send in the clearance lists which were mailed them two weeks ago. This service has not met the response expected by the Farm Bureau directors when they decided to give it a trial.

It was thought desirable to compile a "Want" and "For Sale" list made up from return cards from all Farm Bureau members. In this way a convenient medium is offered by which one farmer may learn what another has to sell or wants to buy. This service can be made of inestimable value if acted upon promptly. The more replies received, the greater field will it cover.

All lists must be in the Farm Advisor's office by Monday, August 4th.

WILD BEAR CHASE IS HELD THROUGH TOWN

HIBBING, Minn., July 30.—A wild bear chase through the streets of Alice furnished several hundred spectators plenty of excitement. Mr. Bruin, traveling across country, made for Bennett Park. He was first noticed by park policemen and Traffic Officer William Kohrt led the chase. The bear, badly frightened, scattered citizens to the right and left of him, and when he changed his course to Third avenue, Alice, he had the autoists taking to the curb.

He was finally rounded up between two sheds of a local lumber yard, and here a large crowd witnessed action. Permission was refused the police to enter the yards, the owner claiming that the bear was his property.

The authorities contended the animal was dangerous to the citizens at large and that he could easily be taken into a cage and brought to the park zoo. The arguments lasted several hours, and when the police, tearing down the barrier, entered the yard, the bear was missing.

Poor Rubber Rings Often Cause of Severe Loss in Canned Fruit, Vegetables

Tests By Which Quality Can Be Determined Are Given

Spoilage of canned goods has been frequently traced to the use of poor rubber rings. The fruit or vegetable canned may be fresh from the garden, the jars and tops may be perfect and absolutely clean, the processing may be done in the right way for the right length of time, but if the rubber rings are not reliable, much of the good work goes for naught.

The very best quality of rubber ring is needed by the housekeeper who uses any method of canning in which the ring is heated with the jar and its contents. If the rubber ring develops imperfections after it has been heated the required time, it is necessary to replace it and again process the jar. Canning demonstrators of the United States Department of Agriculture have been studying the requirements of a good rubber ring in order to eliminate this cause of canning trouble.

Tests of thousands of rings disclosed that color, notwithstanding popular opinion to the contrary, has nothing to do with the quality or strength of the ring.

A ring should be able to support a weight of 13 pounds without breaking, and an easy way to test them is to lift that weight by a ring. If scales are available, place a pail on them and pour in water until the pail and contents weigh exactly 13 pounds; or the 13 pounds may be approximated by putting 1½ gallons of water in an ordinary 12-quart pail.

Adjust the ring on the wooden handle and, by using wooden spoon, slowly lift the pail from the table. A good ring will support the pail without breaking.

To make a perfect seal, rubber rings should possess elasticity enough to take up the unevenness of the jar and cover, and be strong enough to resist cutting when the seal is made. A ring which cannot be folded and pinched without breaking is useless for canning by methods in which the ring is heated (processed) with the jar and contents.

A section of good rubber ring can be stretched to 2½ times its original length. Take a section of a ring about 4 inches long, and using either a pair of mechanical clothes pins or the thumbs and index fingers, grasp the section of the ring at points 4 inches apart. Slowly stretch it. A 4-inch section of a good ring will stretch to 10 inches without breaking. Elasticity is even more important than thickness in taking up the unevenness of the jar and cover. A ring which has the requisite elasticity can be stretched considerably and it will return immediately to its original length.

Rings must be of sufficient thickness.

HERDS WILL BE MADE STRONGER UNDER STATE SYSTEMS

Certificate of Production Makes Owner Increase Care and Feed

Through a system inaugurated by the Animal Husbandry Department of the University of California, Orange County dairymen have an opportunity to build up their herds. The Orange County Farm Bureau has taken hold of this opportunity for the dairymen, and through it systematic record keeping, as urged by the state institution, can be instituted in any dairy in this county.

The Farm Bureau has secured the necessary record cards, and has them to hand out to dairymen who are willing to co-operate in the plan.

The Farm Bureau is anxious to aid in herd improvement and higher production of dairy cows.

The average herd of Orange County has much room for improvement. Here is an opportunity to build up your herd in a systematic manner. The leading dairy sections of the state are adopting it.

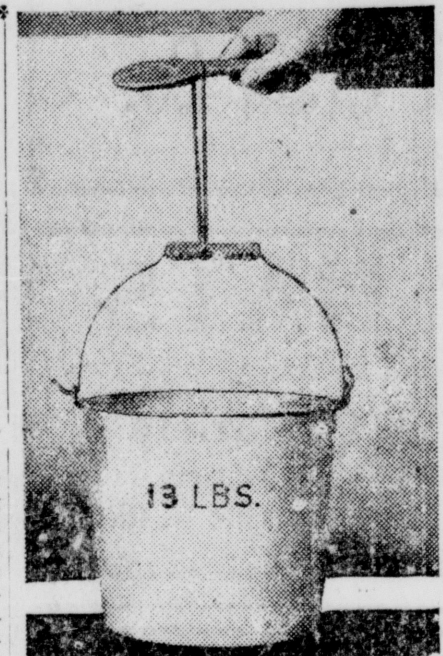

Never before has dairying been so profitable and never has the price of grade cows been so high, yet the price of many a grade cow might have been doubled and that of her heifer calf also if she had from an authentic certificate of production, showing just how good a cow she was. At one recent public auction in this state heifers from a grade cow, that had been the leading grade cow in the recent California State Dairy Cow Competition, sold for more than twice the price of heifers that looked just as promising, but whose dams had nothing to show for their production.

It is "up hill" business to build up a dairy herd from cows bought on the market with nothing to show their value.

When you buy cows that you know are producers or heifers from such cows, and by breeding them to a pure-bred bull with production back of him, you find it a simple matter to build up a profitable herd.

The issuing of a certificate to a cow, as planned by the state, will increase the care and feed given to her by the ordinary farmer. It will stimulate the work of cow testing in general because the cows with certificates, and daughters of such cows, will be in demand, and farmers who

GUERNSEYS LEAD ALL

During the last thirty-three years Guernseys led by far all other breeds in numbers of pure-bred cattle imported into this country. More than 8750 Guernsey cattle were imported; Jerseys ranked second in numbers, with Durhams including shorthorns, third; Holsteins, fourth, and Ayrshires, fifth.

What a Woman Told Us the Other Day

A woman came into our store the other day to buy an article she needed. After she had secured her purchase and was about to depart we asked if we might show her some new foreign half-tones in wall paper designs. She assented, and we brought forth a few of the rolls in the extra large widths of 22 and 30 inches. We had not gone far with our display when she said:

"I think this is the most gorgeous display of wall-paper designs I have ever seen. I see no reason why anyone should want to go out of Santa Ana for wall-paper."

There is much that we could and would like to add to this woman's delightful testimonial to our efforts in giving Orange County the best that is offered by national and foreign markets. But, we let her statement suffice, feeling that it will convince you better than anything we might say.

IMPORTANCE OF TREE SURGERY EMPHASIZED

Instructions Are Given For Care of Orchards Where Saw Is Used

Strange as it may seem, it is a fact that 90 per cent of the decay in our orchard trees might be obviated if proper pruning and painting of wounds were employed. It is only during the last few years that orchardists in many sections of the country have come to the realization of the merits of tree surgery in connection with their fruit bearing trees.

The whole life of a tree is centered in the two layers of bark—the outer, or protecting coat, and the inner living tissue. The "wood" is nothing more than a layer upon layer of dead material which, like the skeletons of the coral insects, form the structure which we know and use.

In these respects trees differ from other plants like flowers and vegetables, and this accounts for the fact that an old tree still apparently in the full flush of health and glory, may be found, when it finally crashes down, to be nothing but a hollow shell.

In case of a tree being injured, cut the injured edges of the wound back to live, firm bark which has not "started" from the wood beneath it, and cut out any wood which may have been splintered, or bruised. Then paint over the whole with a good disinfectant (creosote is very good) and then a good waterproof paint. The reason for so carefully cutting out any loose bark is that, beneath the moisture, shade and partial decay, germs of all kinds find ideal conditions for development, and by that same token, never let any well-meaning but ignorant friend persuade you to put a bandage over a tree wound.

Caused by Neglect

In nine cases out of ten rot holes are the result of formerly neglected prunings, where, had the cut been painted over with waterproof paint at the time, no rot germs or fungus spores could ever have found entrance. In case of broken limbs and neglected bark injuries or other sources, the treatment is much the same as that described above. Scrape and cut out in all directions right down to clean, hard, firm wood or bark. If the resultant cavity is large it may be filled with cement (one part cement to two or three of sand) or even concrete faced with cement.

But paint over the wood first with a good disinfectant, then with a good waterproof paint to prevent the possibility of weather cracking. Fill out with cement only as far as the level of the wood, not of the bark, for the inner bark or cambium will do quite wonderful things in the way of closing in over the wound. A sort of skin grafting can be performed by laying live young shoots of wood over the wound, parallel to each other and grafting them into the bark at each end, but this is work for the tree doctor who thoroughly knows his profession.

Splits in the Trunk

In case of splits in the trunk or limbs which are caused by wind, old age and by over-bearing, the fallen piece of trunk or limb should be properly cut up at once and tied temporarily with rope or wire—with bags or cloth forming a pad underneath—and, if necessary be top pruned to reduce the weight.

The common method of putting an iron ring around each limb and fastening these together with an iron rod is objectionable, because it is quite certain to injure the bark, and also be too small for future growth. Putting a straight iron rod through both pieces, with a nut on each end, allows the limb to sway, thus working the holes larger, weakening the support given and causing more or less injury to the outer surfaces of the bark.

The proper way is to provide a short iron bolt for each limb, of each size and length that it can be driven tight into the hole bored through the limb from it, and put on a large washer and nut countersunk to the level of the wood and tarred over so that the bark will have a chance to grow over and hide the bolt head; these two short pieces are connected by another one, before being inserted; any blacksmith can make the irons and thread the short ends in accordance with the measurements you give him.

OPERATION NECESSARY TO RELIEVE PRESSURE

Mrs. Lillian Emmett left today for Oxnard, accompanied by her son, Verne L. Emmett, who is to undergo an operation for relieving a pressure on the brain.

About five years ago he fell through a hole in the floor in a packing house at Olive to the basement below, breaking his skull. He was operated on at the time and two small pieces of bone removed. A more recent injury is causing the pressure.

STATUS OF MOTH IN WALNUTS DISCUSSED

Prof. Quayle, Entomologist of Experiment Station Writes Article

worms that are entering now are unable to enter through the hard shell excepting at the base or stem end of the nut.

Transferred From Apple

The insect has been transferred from the apple to the walnut and from the walnut to the apple in all stages and it appears to develop in spite of the change of food that may suddenly be given it.

The first brood, and consequently the first eggs of the codling moth, appeared on the walnuts early in May and the second brood appeared early in July. They are not, however, well defined broods, since worms have been entering the walnuts continuously since the beginning of the season. The treatment for the codling moth on the walnuts would naturally be, in general, the same measures as are used for the same insect on the apple.

This treatment consists in the application of a poison. The poison that is generally and universally used at the present time is arsenate of lead. In the case of apples the arsenate of lead is applied in a very large measure in the form of a wet spray, and in a less measure, in some places, more or less recently, in the form of a dry dust.

Most of the control work done in the Santa Ana section during the present season has been with the use of arsenate of lead applied dry. We have, however, carried on some tests with the arsenate of lead applied with water, as a wet spray. On account of the large size of the walnut tree, the dust is more easily applied than the wet spray and it is hoped that this method will prove successful in the case of the walnuts.

Two Kinds in Use

There are two kinds of arsenate of lead in use for spraying purposes. One is called acid arsenate of lead and the other, basic or neutral arsenate of lead. In order to prevent the arsenate from doing injury it must be in a form insoluble, or practically insoluble, in water, in order to prevent the poison from entering the tissue and causing damage.

In the case of the acid arsenate of lead the material is not entirely insoluble and hence, under certain conditions, may do injury, particularly to certain kinds of trees that are susceptible. It has been generally recognized that for stone fruits, the basic arsenate of lead should be used, because with certain unfavorable weather conditions the acid arsenate of lead may do injury. On the basis of some tests that Professor Smith carried on in the Carpentaria district early in the season, it was thought that the acid arsenate of lead might be used with safety to the walnut trees.

Further experience, however, has shown that the acid arsenate of lead which has been used on the walnuts this year cannot be used with safety on walnut foliage, which is rather susceptible to arsenical injury. As a result, more or less damage has been done to walnut trees in this section. In the Carpentaria district also, injury has occurred which did not develop earlier in the season.

Acid arsenate of lead, however, which has been responsible for the injury during the past season, should not be further used on walnut foliage because of the possible injury which may occur. The question of injury, however, in the control of the codling moth is one that may be solved very quickly and readily. All that is necessary to do is to use the basic arsenate of lead rather than the acid arsenate of lead.

Has More Poison

The reason acid arsenate of lead is used where it can be used with safety, is the fact that it contains a higher percentage of actual poison. Acid arsenate of lead contains about 10 per cent more of arsenate oxide than the basic arsenate of lead. The codling moth, however, is one of the insects that is susceptible to poison and very young worms may be very satisfactorily killed with the basic arsenate of lead. The second application should have been applied a couple of weeks ago for the second brood and would have been applied, excepting that it was thought best to await the arrival of the new dust which contains the less injurious form of arsenate of lead.

This material was expected to arrive in Santa Ana last week and it is hoped that it will be there before this article appears.

With the use of the basic arsenate of lead there should be no fear of doing injury to walnut foliage. Where we have used the wet spray, basic arsenate of lead has been used entirely, since it was our opinion at the beginning of the season that the acid arsenate of lead might do injury and which opinion has been borne out by the experience here this season.

Where the wet spray work was carried on, early in the season and again last week no injury has occurred because the basic arsenate of lead has been used. By the end of the season we hope to have a definite program of action outlined for control work next year. This first season has been largely experimental and consisting of tests and on the basis of this work better results in control of the pest may be expected by another season.

BY HIS OWN RULE.

The head of a state department was reproving a clerk for not having written a letter that was sufficiently clear to himself.

"He who cannot make himself understood," shouted the head of the department, "is a fool! Do you understand me, sir?"

"No, sir, I do not," came the prompt response of the clerk.—Columbus Dispatch.

FARM BUREAU TO FURNISH CARDS FOR COWS

Dairy Herds Will Be Made Stronger Under System of State

have never had their cows tested will become interested and begin to join the cow testing associations.

This work would be complementary to the work of the cow-testing associations. The ordinary association has not the time to issue certificates to the eligible cows in their associations and, besides, it is felt that the certificate would mean more and have more value if issued under the supervision of the University of California.

Rules Are Given.

Rules and regulations of the California Record of Production for Grade Cows follow:

1. The work of collecting the records and issuing the certificates to be done by the University of California in co-operation with the various California cow-testing associations, nothing herein saying that other methods may not be also approved.
2. The University of California to have absolute authority in questions as to eligibility of cows, authenticity of records, etc.
3. A fee of $1.00 to be paid upon application for entry of any cow, to cover cost of supervision, corns and certificates.
4. On completion of a 10 month record period the University of California will issue a certificate of record of production for cows that have qualified for the record.

Keeping of Records.

1. The herd records as compiled by the various cow-testing associations are to be accepted as authentic and correct, but the University of California is to be the final judge in all questions arising.
2. Any certificate secured by fraud or misrepresentation to be cancelled if the evidence warrants.
3. The cow tester or owner of cow to send in to University Farm, upon application, a detailed description of the cow, upon blanks to be supplied for this purpose by the University of California.
4. At each monthly test the tester or owner of the cow shall mail to the University Farm a report of the milk production and fat test of the cow for the testing day, on a blank form furnished by the University of California.
5. At the end of a lactation period of 10 months a summary is to be sent to the University Farm on blanks provided for that purpose, of the production of the cow, which will be compared to the monthly reports already sent in.

Eligibility of Cows.

1. Until Jan. 1, 1922, cows may be eligible that are of either grade of "scrub" breeding. After Jan. 1, 1922, only cows that have been sired by a registered pure-bred dairy bull will be accepted.
2. To qualify for a certificate, cows with first calf and under three years of age at time of freshening must produce in ten consecutive months a minimum of 300 pounds of butterfat.
3. Cows with second calf or more must produce a minimum of 350 lbs. of butterfat in 10 consecutive months.
4. In addition to the fat production, a cow to qualify for the certificate must carry a calf at least five months of the ten-month period.
5. Any cow that is known to have tuberculosis will not be able to qualify for a certificate.
6. To be allowed to continue on the test, any cow in normal condition must produce a minimum of 30 lbs. of fat, for cows with first calves, and 40 lbs. of fat, for older cows, during the first month of the test.
7. The owner of cows to be entered shall agree not to use or dispose of their male offspring for breeding purposes.

POOR RUBBER RINGS OFTEN CAUSE LOSS

ness to indent without cutting. The tests show that one-twelfth of an inch is sufficient; that is, 12 rings stacked should measure an inch.

The width of the ring or the flange may vary from one-quarter to three-eighths of an inch. The tests have shown that the fewest "blow-outs" occurred with rings five-sixteenths of an inch wide. For standard jars the inside diameter of the ring should be two and one-quarter inches. It should fit closely, requiring a little stretching to get it around the neck of the jar.

A few minutes spent in testing your rubber rings before you begin canning may save hours of work and perhaps much disappointment later on.

Sergeant York deserves well of fame, unless some publisher persuades him to write a book.

WHITE CITY HAS $5,000 PER ACRE SPRUNG UP AT ORANGE

Seventh Day Adventists Preparing to Open Ten Day Conference Friday

ORANGE, July 30.—The spacious grounds of the high school campus just now present an animated scene. A white city has grown up almost overnight. A city with streets and alleys, with electric lights and a gas and water system—a city with sheltering accommodations for more than a thousand persons, which will be increased to nearly double by the end of the present week. The population may all dine at a central cafeteria and purchase immediate necessities at a community commissary store.

This will be the home of the Seventh Day Adventists of the Southeastern California Conference for ten days, beginning August 1.

It is the occasion of the annual camp meeting when adherents of the belief in the soon-coming Saviour come together to seek God for a better spiritual preparation to meet this great culminating event in the plan of salvation.

Mourners Were White

Beautiful floral offerings, songs and services were the final impressive respects paid to the late Caroline Marie Kogler, who was laid to rest in the Lutheran cemetery. The St. John's choir sang two lovely selections at the church, where Rev. Jensen read the German service, and Rev. Rudnick of Santa Ana, the English service.

Departing from the usual custom all of Miss Kogler's near relatives were white. Bearing testimony to the general regard in which Miss Kogler was held, a throng of sorrowing friends filled the church and gallery to overflowing. There was a large attendance at the services at the grave also. Pallbearers were Messrs. George Seba, George Elstie, Henry Pophors, John Schmetsen and Leo Bunke.

Wires Must Go Underground

In preparation for the installation of an ornamental street lighting system, the city trustees have directed the placing underground of all wires now strung on poles in the business district. A resolution was passed instructing the city attorney to serve notice on the Edison company, the telephone company, and all others having poles in the area between Main and Almond avenues on Glassell street and Grand and Lemon on Chapman avenue to remove them within sixty days.

Will Tell of Centenary

Next Sunday morning at the Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. W. C. Geyer, will give a report of the great "Centenary Celebration," which he recently attended at Columbus, O.

Rev. Geyer says: "Eye witnesses agree that this was the most wonderful religious celebration of all time. No language can adequately describe it. It was wonderful beyond all description. Any one of a half dozen features would have been well worth while one's crossing the continent to see."

Pastor Laid to Rest

Allen J. Houder, pastor of the Orange Free Methodist church, was laid to rest in the Fairhaven cemetery Monday afternoon. Well may it be said of Rev. Houder, "He hath done well," especially with his failing health. He leaves a wife and two children, a son, Walter, who is still in the service of his country in France, and a daughter, Marie, who is with her mother.

Notes and Personal

D. H. Litten of Pueblo, Colo., has purchased the Orange Inn confectionery and will have charge of the rooms and dining room. Litten and family expect to make their home here, being delighted with this country. Litten was for eight years owner of the Pueblo Hatters Company of Pueblo, Colo.

Dr. H. D. Dillon and family of Osborne, Kan., arrived here Tuesday evening. They motored to San Diego yesterday, and will return later and make their permanent home in this section.

Word has been received by Mrs. Osman Pixley that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Buchanan, are in Yosemite after a delightful trip to Lake Tahoe.

Herbert Engle, son of H. C. Engle, who mashed his fingers last week in the meat grinder of the fig-nut factory, is improving and will not lose any of his fingers.

Charles Mitchell, who has recently purchased the three-acre walnut grove just north of the C. G. Cretley home, in Garden Grove, is erecting a bungalow and will occupy it as soon as completed.

Mrs. H. M. Alward of Delta, Utah, is visiting at the F. R. Youngs home on East Walnut avenue. Mrs. Alward will be remembered as one of the teachers in the Orange schools for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Talmadge of East Collins, welcomed the arrival of a 9½-pound baby girl Monday evening.

LAGUNA MUSICAL PROGRAM REAL DELIGHT

Artists of Excellence Give Recital In Studio of Frank W. Cuprien

LAGUNA BEACH, July 30.—One of the most delightful of musical affairs ever heard here was held recently at the attractive studio of Frank W. Cuprien, one of Laguna's well-known resident painters. The perfect acoustics and alluring atmosphere of the studio make it a place well suited to private concerts.

The singers of the evening were Mrs. Charles Leo Tuttle of Ontario, who was also the hostess, and Mrs. C. H. Marsh of Pasadena. C. H. Marsh played the piano accompaniments and Mr. Warren Ferguson of Los Angeles rendered a number of violin solos as well as obligatos to Mrs. Tuttle's solos.

Mrs. Tuttle is the possessor of a fine coloratura voice of wide range and bell-like quality. Her rendering of songs shows much temperament as well as much training. She is planning to study further with Constantino.

Mrs. Marsh, as well as her husband, is a composer of a refined order. In the two songs of her own composition, one feels refreshed by the buoyant beauty with which her creations abound.

Mr. Marsh's "Sunken Garden" is full of the rich color and a spirit of dreaming abandon one loves to hear or see in all modern art.

Mr. Ferguson is a violinist of high degree. He successfully carries one into the clear joy of the music and into forgetfulness of technique.

Those who were present to enjoy the evening were Mrs. Warren Ferguson, Mrs. Lillian Ferguson, Mrs. Blozier, Mrs. Garber, Miss Parker, Henri Gilbert De Kriuf, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Chambers, Mrs. Otis Jones, Miss Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Adams, Franklin Adams, Mrs. B. B. ## TUSTIN SCHOOL PLANS BEFORE CHAMBER

Class Rooms and Kindergarten Are Proposed; Building to Cost $8000

TUSTIN, July 30.—At the meeting of the Tustin Chamber of Commerce Monday night, plans were submitted for additional buildings on the school grounds.

The school has been cramped for room during the past two terms. Preliminary plans were shown for the buildings desired, calling for two class rooms and one large kindergarten room, with corridors, lavatories and modern equipment. A location for the building was discussed and it was the general opinion that it should be of brick and of a style of architecture to correspond with the present building.

The school board reported between $4,000 and $5,000 on hand which could be used for the new building. The plan submitted provides for a structure that would cost $8000. No definite action was taken.

A communication from the California Highway Commission in regard to the protest against taking out the trees on D street gave an explanation for doing so; also a communication from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was read about camp sites around Tustin.

W. S. McDougall gave a report of the meeting of the Orange County Service Men's Recognition held at Anaheim.

The open ditch committee reported progress in the matter of getting ditches covered.

Mr. Marchant reported that Tustin will pay its pro rata share of high school expense, but not be a part of Santa Ana district.

FOWL REFLECTIONS

Said the big red rooster to the little white hen:

"You haven't laid an egg since the Lord knows when."

Said the little white hen to the big red rooster:

"You don't come around as often as you used to."

But Santa Ana poultry raisers sneer at this poem. They say that a rooster less hen will lay more eggs in a month than one which is nestered with the attentions of a gentleman of her species.

They have also discovered that a henry which is also a fowl nursery, can be profitably united with an orange grove, for one hen will fertilize one tree, and a small share of the fruit from the tree will sell for enough to supply the hen with food.

A poet of a former generation wrote: "There once was a preacher, whose last name was Beecher. He started a fowl ranch. And made it a main branch of his church; and his people, as they gazed at the steeple, said: 'His best hen doth lay an egg every day.' And thus does the Hen re-Ward Beecher."

Fifty Per Cent Increase In Acreage, Report Made To Lima Bean Association

The California Lima Bean Growers Association now has fifty per cent more acreage signed up than it had in 1918, and the association today is stronger and in better position to handle the marketing of lima beans than it has ever been. It is still making a fight to secure a membership that will give it control of eighty per cent of the production of baby limas.

These facts are given in the annual report of the association manager, R. L. Churchill, just made to the directors and members of the association.

Churchill's review of the bean situation, the year's activities and the outlook for the coming year, as given at Oxnard in his annual report, follows:

The annual meeting of members to-day marks the ending of the third and the beginning of the fourth year of the operation of our association. Difficult and unusual problems, due to the continuation of the world war and then to the rather sudden ending of the war through the signing of the armistice, made the past year a strenuous and trying one for all business. It seemed to us at times that the bean business was suffering more than almost any other, and there was certainly a period of several months of troublesome times.

Marketing of the 1918 Crop

When the association commenced marketing its beans last fall, there was no good reason to anticipate that the prices at which the Association began making sales, which was somewhat below the current market at the time, would not be maintained throughout the season, and we still believe that if our association, or any other organization of similar nature, had been in control of the marketing of a large proportion of the crop, the serious decline in prices which resulted in such heavy losses to producers and distributors would not have occurred, although it is probable that the panicky feeling which developed with the sudden ending of the war would have caused the prices of our beans to have declined somewhat below the level of prices prevailing at the opening of the season. Unfortunately, neither our association nor anyone else was in position to be able to check the panic, and the story of the utter demoralization of the bean market, with a steady lowering of prices and no movement or sale of beans so fresh in your minds that its history need not be repeated. We are a unit in being glad that it is of the past and in hoping that we may never again experience at any one time a combination of rain-damage, worm-damage, sun-burned beans, government management and mismanagement, our shortages, influenza epidemic, the uncertainty and panic caused by the sudden ending of a great war, along with the marketing of the minor portion of a season's crop.

Meeting Emergency

The Directors know through their participation, and the members have been advised through our bulletins, of our having called a conference of bankers and large growers, about the middle of March, and presented the situation, explaining the need for immediate concerted action of a large majority of the growers and owners if further and still more disastrous declines in prices were to be prevented; and how as a result of this conference a movement was immediately started which brought together into one pool some 80 per cent of the then remaining unsold stocks of lima and baby lima beans. In this connection we all recognize and are glad to accord the large amount of credit which is due Mr. C. C. Teague, president of the California Walnut Growers Association, who through his wide experience in the marketing of California food products, and because of the esteem and confidence in which he is held by the growers generally, was able to present an acceptable plan for the operation of the pool and to act as a leader about whom groups of ordinarily opposing views and interests were willing to gather.

Stabilizes Market

The new pool, formed to meet this emergency situation, and of which our association became a part, did what for months previous to its formation we had insisted was the only thing necessary to be done, viz., having control of the marketing of a large proportion of the stocks, at once stabilized the market and thereby created a brisk demand and movement by guaranteeing its prices against decline until August first. Only about forty cars of limas and about thirty cars of baby limas belonging to the pool are now remaining unsold, and the present price of nine cents coast on limas is in marked contrast with the price of six cents coast which was prevailing when the pool commenced operating about April 1st, and is in still greater contrast with the price that it then seemed absolutely certain would prevail long before this time, and with it the equal certainty that most of the beans would still be on hand unsold. Our Association may justly claim that it did what it could to help the industry in this time of stress and need, but it recognizes that in doing this it was simply living up to its principles and putting into practice its belief that "co-operation means working with others for a common benefit."

Returns and Payments

Although it entailed the borrowing of a considerable sum of money for a time, our Association again carried out the plan of paying within about thirty days after delivery, to all growers of limas and baby limas, five cents per pound upon gross weights, which this season will amount to appreciably more than one-half the full value of the growers' crop. Many of the warehouses did not operate during the dull market period, and the rain and worm damage was so great that the cleaning and handpicking has necessarily been slow and tedious, and all lots will not be cleaned up until the latter part of this month. This situation has unavoidably kept us paying many growers upon an estimated basis.

Last year at this time, the sale of the previous season's crop had been almost entirely completed and we were able to estimate and announce the probable returns and results of the season's business upon a basis that proved to be very close to the final actual results and returns.

This season we are not able to obtain at this time figures upon which to base what we consider would be a reasonably accurate estimate for the reason that about 40 per cent of our beans were turned over to the new pool for cleaning and shipment, and in advance of the completion of the cleaning, we shall not be able to secure and check the actual recleaned weights covering our entire year's business.

The question as to the net, average price per pound which the pool (Lima Bean Selling Agency) will pay is also a large factor, and this, too, we are unable to determine now, except very approximately. However, based upon the data we can gather, we estimate that we shall be able to return to our grower members in the neighborhood of 9c per pound upon our full season's pool of regular limas and between 7½c to 7¾c per pound upon baby limas.

Some of the beans already sold are for July shipment, and as previously stated a few cars are yet unsold, but it appears likely that our members will have received nearly if not all returns for their 1918 crop before they commence delivering the 1919 crop. The necessity for holding the beans in warehouses much longer than usual, materially increased our cost of insurance, taxes and storage. While the above indicated prices are less than our grower members at one time anticipated, it is undoubtedly true, as was the case the previous season, that our Association's price will be noticeably higher than the average price received by outside growers.

Tenary Beans

Despite the generally unsatisfactory results, we feel that we made an extraordinary effort and did our best to sell Tenary beans for those of our members who grew that variety, but the experience of the buying and consuming trade the previous year had created such a prejudice that they continued unwilling to purchase any quantities and then only at comparatively, ridiculously low prices.

We sent samples to Europe, to practically every market in this country, employed specialty men, did special advertising, camped upon the trail of the Food Administration, Grain Corporation and Red Cross until they grew tired of us, but with all our effort have not succeeded in selling nearly half the Tenary beans we had to market. The actual signing of peace, bringing the opening up of wider trade relations with Europe, combined with reduced bean plantings throughout the United States leads us again to hope that a fresh demand will absorb the Tenary beans at prices better than their present and recently prevailing market.

Properly cooked, Tenary beans, particularly of the 1918 crop, are good beans, but the movement and sale of them during the past season is certainly a marked but unfortunate example of the effect of a bad reputation.

Bags and Twine

You will remember that our Association effected a saving of something more than $30,000 for its members last year through purchasing of bean bags and twine. Our purchases during recent weeks to cover the orders filed with us by members for their coming season's requirements, will probably not show quite so large a total saving, because the price of bags has not advanced so much above the opening price this year as it did last year. However, the saving will be a very substantial sum since the present current market on bags is about 4c per bag above the opening price.

Growth of the Association

Additional acreage of lima and baby beans represented by new members' contracts received during the past two and a half months now shows more than fifty per cent increase as compared with the Association's holdings a year ago, and places us in a much stronger position than we have ever been before, and will undoubtedly enable our Association to be a thoroughly effective marketing association for the growers the coming season.

We have not yet, however, succeeded in having eighty per cent of the lima and baby lima bean production represented in our membership which is required to make the recently proposed selling arrangements between the A. & H. Levy Company, the J. M. Waterman Selling Agency and our Association operative, but we are planning to make another thorough canvass of all lima bean districts before the end of this month in an effort to secure more than eighty per cent, if possible.

The importance and real necessity for thorough organization of the bean growers and the co-operative marketing of their crops should have been so clearly demonstrated by the happenings of the past season that more than ninety per cent of the growers should gladly and promptly avail themselves of the opportunity to become members of the Association.

The preliminary steps have been taken for the organization of a new local association in the Sawtelle-Inglewood district and it is altogether likely that other local associations will be organized before the opening of the new crop season.

The loyalty and harmony manifested by the members of all our various local associations is certainly commendable and speaks well for the continued permanency and success of the organization.

There have been many opportunities for misunderstandings and complaints during the past year on account of unusually heavy cleaning and handpicking charges which because of high labor cost and the fact that some warehouses were not well equipped for this work made some bills appear almost excessively high.

However, the grower members as soon as they realized the extent of damage which their beans had suffered appreciated the absolute necessity of handpicking if necessary to bring them to merchantable grade, and the situation with reference to labor and equipment, and very cheerfully made the best of a bad situation. This is the spirit which creates team work that is bound to win.

It would not be proper for us to fail to mention the sacrifice of time and attention that has been given to Association problems, without pay, by the directors of our Association. It is sincerely to be hoped that these men who have been giving their best efforts for the good of the industry may in addition to the sense of satisfaction which must come to them through their personal knowledge of service to their fellow growers, receive the added satisfaction of knowing that their efforts are being appreciated by those whom they are representing.
